GC FACULTY EQUITY & INNOVATION INSTITUTE 2024-2025 COHORT

Would you like to learn more about culturally responsive pedagogy and other equity-minded pedagogical best practices for the transformative classroom? Are you curious to see your course-level student data and learn about concrete strategies for closing equity gaps? Then consider joining the next faculty cohort of our year-long Faculty Equity & Innovation Institute (FEII)!

Faculty participants will have the opportunity to hear from colleagues on these topics and more, and walk away with the tools to implement research-based high-impact practices for their classroom.

Our first cohort of faculty participants in 23-24 represented many departments from across campus. To the right are a few of their comments regarding their experiences during the first semester of FEII in Fall 2023.

"The first-semester experience in FEII was overwhelmingly positive, rich in resources, ideas, and relevant suggestions for strategies and practices that can easily be integrated into my teaching."

"These sessions have each given me things to think about as I try to make each semester going forward a better experience for my students."

I really enjoyed this experience and I look forward to the spring :)
