Great Ways To Help

Share Info With Students!

1. Cal Fresh: Money for Fresh Food!
   Cal Fresh is California’s branding of the federal supplemental nutrition assistance program (SNAP). Many college students qualify and use Cal Fresh benefits and receive up to $192 each month for food. Students can get help applying for Cal Fresh at the weekly Cal Fresh workshop in Building 60-206 from 9am-10am on Thursdays. Tell your students about Cal Fresh!

2. Gizmo’s Kitchen Student Food Pantry
   Grossmont College Gizmo’s Kitchen grossmont.edu/student-services
   What: Gizmo’s Kitchen is a ‘grab and go’ student food pantry that supports students by providing pre-packaged items suitable for on-campus lunch or meals.
   Where: Students can pick up a bag by stopping by Student Health 60-130. Students need to show a student ID to receive a bag.
   When: Students can access Gizmo’s Kitchen ONCE per week Monday - Thursday from 10am-2pm (closed Fridays).

Add Resource and Support Info on Your Syllabus
Add Resource and Support info on your syllabus. Consider adding a statement such as, “Students facing food or housing insecurity are encouraged to contact a Grossmont College Basic Needs Liaison or you can send an e-mail to Grossmont.BasicNeeds@gcccd.edu to request information or assistance. You are also encouraged to speak with your instructor, if you feel comfortable doing so, so that additional support can be provided to ensure your success in this course. Additional information on basic needs resources, including Gizmo’s Kitchen (Grossmont College’s food pantry) is available at: grossmont.edu/student-services”.

Ideas For Faculty

4. Get Involved!
   There are plenty of ways to get involved in our campus efforts that address basic needs insecurities. Students love seeing their faculty outside of the classroom and this is an excellent way to engage with them. Think of ways that your department can harness your expertise to help out! Have an idea? Let us know!

5. Try Open Educational Resources
   There are great Open Educational Resources (OER) that you can use “as is” or edit to create the perfect textbook! Plus, you’ll save your students money that they can use for basic needs like food. Consult with your colleagues in your department or library faculty on where to find OER.

6. Integrate Issues Into Your Classes
   Include info about basic needs resources in your syllabus. Add a related topic for students to discuss and possibly research. Create a service learning program that connects to the information they are learning. Volunteer as a class together at Gizmo’s Kitchen.
